

DEVELOPMENT DURING INFANCY & CHILDHOOD

FCS 3215-5 (Meets with PSYCH 3215-5)

Diane Hartford, MS/ diane.hartford@hci.utah.edu

Course Objectives: The primary goal of this course is to introduce students to the field of child development from conception to middle childhood. This course emphasizes normal physical, cognitive, and social development and the interrelations among these aspects of development. We will also examine how various ecological systems influence development. This course will encourage you to critically examine both your personal experiences and the empirical literature on human development. This course will also encourage you to apply the information you learn to real life situations with children.

Course Requirements: Exams, participation & contribution in discussion and reflection sessions, & thought papers.
